FLORIDA REQUIRES LICENSING OF MOBILE HOME INSTALLERS:

The 1996 Florida legislature passed a law requiring licensing of manufactured home installers to help assure that manufactured homes are properly assembled, supported and anchored. According to Florida's Bureau of Mobile Home Construction, the law is in response to faulty installation complaints from manufactured mobile home customers. Beginning October 1, 1996, anyone installing a manufactured home in Florida must have a license issued by the Bureau.

Installation decals from the Bureau are also required and must be placed on the home prior to installation. Licensed installers will be authorized to perform all manufactured home setup operations allowed by Florida law and administrative rules. Additional information can be obtained from:
